THE only Genuine Edition of DODSLEY's ANNUAL REGISTER (agreeably to the Assignment made by the Executors of the late Mr. DODSLEY) from its Commencement in 1758 to 1790 inclusive, 32 vol. new, neatly half bound and lettered, for 9l 19s 6d, or 32 vol. new, in calf, elegantly gilt, rolled, &c. 11l 15s

A NEW VOLUME OF DODSLEY's ANNUAL REGISTER JUST PUBLISHED for 1793, new, neatly half bound, uncut, leather back, lettered, for 7s 3d or in boards, 6s 6d, 1798.

 Any single volume of the above Work, up to the year 1790 may be had, new, in boards, for 5s 9d each volume, or new, half bound, lettered, uncut, 6s 4d each.

THE fair gained, and indeed unprecedented Preference, which has been given to DODSLEY'S ANNUAL REGISTER, in almost every Nation in Europe, is the best Proof that can be adduced of its real Merit. A more faithful, or just Recital of the Public Occurrences, is not to be met with; added to this, the great Variety of Original Matter it contains, and written in that animated and spirited Style, that justly establishes the Work as one of the Standards of the English Language. This Assertion will not be doubted when it is considered that the late Mr. EDMUND BURKE not only, for many Years, furnished the Original Matter, but had the entire Management of the Work under his Inspection: even at the latter Periods, it is well known he superintended the Publication, in Conjunction with the late Dr. Campbell.

At the Sale of the late Mr. Dodsley's Stock, Messrs. Lackington, Allen, and Co. (in Conjunction with others,) purchased the whole Copy-right in the above Work, together with his entire Stock, consisting of above 1200 Volumes.

The Supineness with which this Work was latterly conducted, has been the Cause of others starting up with similar Publications; the now Proprietors are determined to conduct the Work with Spirit; nor will any Expence be spared in rendering every succeeding Volume worthy the Acceptance of the Public, notwithstanding the puny and futile Efforts of a few mercenary Men. With Confidence they now lay the Volume for 1793 before the Public, freed, they trust, from the Trammels of Pedantry, or useless Prolixity; and it will ever be their Study to observe the same Line of Impartiality which has been so eminently distinguished throughout the Work: no longer than they observe this, shall they think themselves entitled to the Public Confidence. Men of the first Literary Talents are engaged, in Order to bring up the intermediate Volumes from the Year 1790; those for 1791 and 1792 will shortly be ready for Publication, and that for the year 1797 will in a very short Time be laid before the Public; the others, viz. for 1794-5 and 6 will follow in regular Succession, the Work will then be continued annually, without any Interruption whatever.

The second Edition of a Translation of the ABBE BARTHELEMI's TRAVELS OF ANACHARSIS THE YOUNGER, INTO GREECE, carefully abridged, with the Life of the Author, a large coloured map and fine plates, a large 8vo. volume, new, in boards, 6s 3d

The Utility of this Work cannot be better Judged than by the rapid Sale the former Translation has experienced.—From its then Voluminous State, many must have been prevented from Purchasing a Work of the utmost Utility, not only to the Classical Scholar, but to Young People in general. That difficulty is now obviated, the above Abridgment possessing every material Article contained in the eight Volumes.—It is particularly recommended to Masters of Academies, &c. as an excellent Prize Book for Scholars who are in the Higher Classes.

The same Work in French, new, in boards, 6s

SHERIDAN IMPROVED, a General Pronouncing and Explanatory Dictionary for the Use of Schools, Foreigners learning English, &c. in which it has been attempted to improve on the Plan of Mr. Sheridan, the Discordancies of that celebrated Orthoëpist being avoided, and his Improprieties corrected, a thick octavo volume, new, in boards, for 6s 6d, 1798.

Ditto, a small neat edition, new, neatly bound and lettered, 3s

The Rapidity with which two very large Impressions of the above Work have been sold, is the best Proof of its Superiority over similar Publications, neither Pains nor Expence have been spared in rendering this Edition worthy the Acceptance of the Public; the Number of Words new to this Edition is not short of Two Thousand, and the Orthoëpy throughout has been carefully revised and reformed.

To the smaller Edition the like Attention has been paid, and although not the Octavo, it contains more Words than other Dictionaries of the circumstances it will be found particularly useful

 Anecdote has ever been conſidered a pleaſing Study, it ſerves to enlighten the Mind, without overburthening the Memory, it intereſts us in the Characters of whom they are recorded, and forms a Receſs from the more Laborious Studies—In the above Anecdotes of the Emperor Peter we ſee a bold, Vigorous, and Enterpriſing genius, born in a rude Country, burſting through the Deficiencies of Education, and all the Decorums of State, many of which he did not know, and all of which he diſregarded; to purſue his own Extenſive Schemes, and to gratify his private Humours, had he Iſſued all his Orders from the formalities of a Court and never laid aſide the Prince, he never could have realized his grand Conceptions, nor have made ſo ſpeedy an Importation of Arts and Civil Manners into a Country where they where total Strangers, and have taught them to ſuch reluctant Scholars.

☞ The above Work being very ſcarce, it was judged that a new edition of it would be very acceptable to the Public, and the more ſo as a late Traveller (i. e. Mr. Bruce) arrogates to himſelf the Unique Merit of Diſcovering the Head of the Nile, and takes uncommon pains to make his Readers believe that no Perſon had ever arrived at thoſe ſo much famed ſources—But it is very remarkable that this Modern Traveller's Account of theſe celebrated Fountains are nearly in the very Words of the Old Work, the Inference is obvious.

 The Grecian Islands on the Coast of Asia Minor are so celebrated in Ancient History, and so Imperfectly Known with regard to their Present State, that such Observations and Enquiries as may contribute to render us more fully acquainted with them cannot be unworthy of Engaging our Attention. The Liveliness and accuracy with which M. Savary has described those Objects which fell under his Observation, together with his painful and Successful researches into remote Antiquity, render him superior to the Generality of Ordinary Travellers.

☞ The Abilities of M. Louvet as a Noveliſt are well known—In the original of the above Publication he has, perhaps indulged his Genius rather too far in the Wild Sportings of creative Fancy—In the tranſlation care has been taken to ſuppreſs the objectional Paſſages, and others rendered leſs liable to Cenſure.

A few of the Scenes are, indeed, ſtill painted in Warm, and ſeveral of the principal Characters in Seductive Colours—the Cataſtrophe will however teach the Reader to perceive that even the moſt ſplendid and ſucceſsful Vices is but a tranſitory Dream which leads to Ruin and Infamy, and that every Deviation from Virtue is accompanied by Terror, and followed by Remorſe.

 The Fair Author of Louiſa Mathews has ſhewn in the contrivance of her plot and ſupport of her Characters, a Knowledge of human Nature, and great vigour of Imagination. The Dramatis Perſonæ of our Modern Noveliſts are generally drawn extremely good, or very vicious, but the ſelfiſhneſs and accidental goodneſs of William Montague are ably diſcriminiated, and the occaſional Starts of Lady Eleanor's ambition, and the vulgarity of Lady Berkland are well preſerved through this intereſting Story.

We are ſenſible that we have not been able to do this ingenious little performance all the juſtice that is due to it. But the reader will be compenſated by referring to the Work itſelf.

 The Novel of the Memoirs of Mary, abounds with a Brilliancy of Imagination rarely to be found in our Modern Novels. The Authoreſs, from her knowledge of Polite Life, has an Advantage peculiar to moſt of her Contemporaries of painting her Likeneſſes truly Original. The whole of the Characters introduced in this Novel are genuine Portraits of Perſons now living. The Incidents, Situations, &c. are related in that Pleaſing, Unaffected Manner, ſo at once to convey Inſtruction and Entertainment to every Claſs of Readers.

☞ Of all the Works in the English Language none has perhaps been more deservedly admired than the Improvement of the Mind. To Youth of both Sexes it will be found a valuable Companion, the directions are laid down in a plain and Intelligent Manner, for the attainment of every branch of useful Knowledge, in short such was the opinion of the great Dr. Johnson of this Esteemed Work, that after a warm and Elaborate recommendation of it, he says, "Whoever has the care of Instructing others may be charged with deficience in his Duty if this Book is not recommended".

The Rapidity with which two very large Impreſſions of the above Work has been ſold, (without the Aid of ſlaviſh Panegyric,) is the beſt Proof of its intrinſic Merit and Superiority over other ſimilar Publications, as well as highly gratifying to the Proprietors. As the Work has met with that General Encouragement, neither Pains nor Expence has been ſpared in rendering the Octavo Edition worthy the Acceptance of the Public: the Number of Words new to this Edition is not ſhort of Two Thouſand, and the Orthoëpy throughout has been carefully reviſed and reformed.

To the ſmaller Edition the like due Attention has been paid, and although not ſo Copious as the Octavo, it contains more Words than other Dictionaries of a much larger ſize. Under theſe Circumſtances it is particularly recommended to Maſters of Academies, Teachers, &c.

The Miniſters of the Goſpel will find in this Comment the moſt uſeful Inſtructions for their Conduct towards one another, and the People committed to their Charge.—The People will ſee what the Succeſſors of the Apoſtles ought to be, and will be taught highly to eſteem, in love, ſuch as are indeed faithful ſpiritual Labourers. Doctrinal, practical, and experimental Religion is delineated in this Work, in a maſterly Manner.

 The above Sermons are publiſhed from the Original Manuſcripts left by the late Doctor; to the Libraries of Chriſtians of every Denomination theſe Diſcourſes will be found a valuable Addition. The Doctrines taught in the Sacred Scriptures are clearly elucidated. Of the Style in which they are written, they have the Excellence of Plainneſs and Simplicity; in ſhort, they contain a comprehenſive View of every thing that relates to the Faith, the Hope, and the Practice of the Chriſtian Religion, and throughout the whole the well-known Learning and Piety of the Author are plainly evinced.

The utility of this Work cannot be better Judged than by the Rapid Sale the former Tranſlation has experienced.—From its then Voluminous State, it is feared many have been prevented from Purchaſing a Work of the utmoſt Utility, not only to the Claſſical Scholar, but to Young People in general.—In the preſent inſtance that Difficulty is obviated, the above Abridgement Poſſeſſing every Material Article contained in the Eight Volumes—Under theſe Circumſtances, it is particularly Recommended to Maſters of Schools, Teachers, &c. as a moſt excellent Prize Book for Scholars who are in the Higher Claſſes.
